DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's amendment of claims 1-17 has been fully considered and is entered.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed 18 December 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's argument that the Alperovich reference does not disclose selecting from a plurality of encryption modes in an encryption mode database is not persuasive because by applicant's own admission (page 9 of Amendment A), the Alperovich reference reads on applicant's own invention by using on and off encryption modes (plurality of encryption modes) which are determined from a database (encryption mode database)(Abstract).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-6, 10-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Alperovich, U.S. Patent No. 5,781,628. Referring to claims 1, 2, 4-6, 10-13, Alperovich discloses a system and method for selective restriction of ciphering wherein a mobile switching center, base station controller, and a transceiving base station, and a ciphering database work together in a GSM communications system to provide geographically dependent encrypted communications (Col. 1, lines 29-59 & Col. 3, lines 8-15). The reported or calculated position of a user or base station, using longitude and latitude (region code), is checked against the cipher database to verify the type of encrypted communications that are allowable in that jurisdiction. The encryption procedure (encryption algorithm) for the area is then transferred to the base stations and users so that the proper communication can be established for the current jurisdiction (Col. 3, line 64 – Col. 5, line 65).

Referring to claim 3, Alperovich discloses that the network information is maintained in a home location register in a mobile switching center (first element)(Col. 1, lines 45-67), and the cipher database is stored in the base station controller (second element)(Col. 4, lines 16-21).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 7-9 and 14-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Alperovich, U.S. Patent No. 5,781,628, in view of Sampei, U.S. Patent No. 5,732,349. Referring to claims 7-9 and 14-17, Alperovich discloses a system and method for selective restriction of ciphering wherein a mobile switching center, base station controller, and a transceiving base station, and a ciphering database work together in a GSM communications system to provide geographically dependent encrypted communications (Col. 1, lines 29-59 & Col. 3, lines 8-15). The reported or calculated position of a user or base station, using longitude and latitude (region code), is checked against the cipher database to verify the type of encrypted communications that are allowable in that jurisdiction. The encryption procedure (encryption algorithm) for the area is then transferred to the base stations and users so that the proper communication can be established for the current jurisdiction (Col. 3, line 64 – Col. 5, line 65). Alperovich does not disclose that the reported or calculated position of the user or base station is a mobile country code. Sampei discloses a system and method for controlling a portable telephone according to discriminated area code wherein a mobile country code is used to identify the calling area (Col. 1, lines 56-65). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made for the reported or calculated position of the user or base station of Alperovich to be a mobile country code because mobile country codes are widely used in GSM systems as disclosed in Sampei Col. 1, lines 56-65).

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
